DIRECTOR'S NOTES

Well, the big day has finally arrived. We have learned a lot during the past ten weeks of rehearsals. The Miracle Worker is an incredible play about the early childhood of Helen Keller and her teacher, Annie Sullivan.

Through the course of the play, we see Helen's frustration as she struggles to break through her prison of blindness and deafness. Silence is used to help the audience experience a part of Helen's world.

We meet a young woman, Annie Sullivan, who has been blind herself and now attempts to teach a blind child to see. Annie learns that she not only has a six-year-old Helen to contend with, but the entire Keller family and their problems as well. Annie also fights her own memories of a childhood filled with tragedy.

Captain Keller is a retired Civil-war officer who is used to being the man in charge, yet has no control over his own household. Kate is well meaning as Helen's mother, but is frustrated that she cannot touch her own child. James feels the neglect of a son that seems to have been forgotten as the family focuses all of their energy on Helen.

Thank you for coming, we hope you enjoy our production of The Miracle Worker.
