The LHN Spring Concert & Art Show

May 7, 2003
LHN Courtyard

The Visual Arts Spring Exhibit

The student seen throughout the halls as you make your way to the Courtyard for the Annual Spring Concert is a culmination of four years work by the students at Lutheran High North.

In many cases, we have tried to explain the purpose of the work, the exhibit or competition it was entered in, and, where possible, the final results.

In all, it is a tribute to the creativity, hard work, and enthusiasm our students bring to the art classes every day.

The work will be on display through the end of May. Please feel free to stop by any time and view the show again. By next school year, we will have expanded our display capabilities in the Holeman Gallery, and will begin the season with a student display of 3-D works.

Please look for this and other art announcements in upcoming LHN newsletters, electronic mail and local media sources.

TWILIGHT OF THE BARN IN OHIO

Illustrations by John A. Rodak

This collection of original pen and ink illustrations has been touring the state of Ohio since January, 2003, with scheduled dates continuing through the summer of 2004.

It is the result of three years' correspondence, research and drawing by John A. Rodak, Visual Arts Instructor for Lutheran High North. The purpose of the show is to make the viewer aware of and appreciative of these still-magnificent structures that have withstood neglect, disrepair and abandonment to the elements and the landscapes they once dominated. They are reminders of what made the state of Ohio prosper, develop and grow -- and with it, the country itself.

These illustrations will be on display at Lutheran High North through June, 2003. Selected works have been reproduced in limited series edition prints of 250. Please see Mr. Rodak for more information and/or to purchase a signed print.
